

Marianne Turner

My name is Marianne Turner and I have been head at Blenheim Primary School and Children's Centre for thirteen years and prior to that I was head of a rural primary school in Essex.

I have a strong belief that you can change the life chances and aspirations of children by working closely with their families and the local community which is why Blenheim became an extended school and developed the Children's Centre.

I have three grown up sons and three gorgeous grandchildren who I enjoy spending time with cooking, painting and having fun.
